

Akinori Uesugi

Akinori Uesugi is a professor at the Graduate School of International Corporate Strategy, Hitotsubashi University, Tokyo, and teaches competition laws since Oct. 2006. He serves as a special advisor to the JFTC on international affairs. He also works a senior consultant at the Tokyo office of Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer since July 2006.

He started his career at the Fair Trade Commission of Japan in 1970. He held positions as Deputy Secretary General, Director General of the Investigation Bureau and Director General of Economic Affairs, before appointment in June 2003 as Secretary General of the Fair Trade Commission of Japan. He held this position until the end of June 2006. During his time as Secretary General, he played a key role in making significant amendments to Japan's Antimonopoly Act; changes that have led directly to stricter antitrust enforcement in Japan.

Mr Uesugi was educated at both the University of Tokyo and the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania where he graduated in 1973 (LLM). He is the author of numerous books and articles in Japanese and English.